The contribution case

Russell's strongest value is not a claim of having already run this exact anonymous firm. It is a verified pattern of entering complex systems, making the work visible, connecting technical and business actors, installing operating mechanisms, and using emerging technology without surrendering human judgment or accountability.

Immediate contribution

- Instrument the engagement portfolio and metric definitions.
- Separate strategic founder involvement from routine dependency.
- Connect sales promise, scope, capacity, proof, renewal, margin, billing, and cash.
- Install one management standard for human and agent capacity.

Discovery boundary

The confidential firm's exact utilization model, client mix, recurring-revenue structure, agent stack, P&L mechanics, and founder working style are not public. They should be learned through direct evidence, not guessed.

Interview proposition

Test the Engagement Load Path against one recent client engagement: what was sold, what changed, who carried the work, where margin moved, what the client accepted, and why the account did or did not renew.
